Intellinex Recognized in Leader Quadrant in 2005 Learning Management Systems Magic Quadrant

Cleveland OH– November 11, 2005 – Intellinex announced that it has been positioned by Gartner, Inc. in the Leader Quadrant in the 2005 Learning Management System (LMS) Magic Quadrant report. The report sites “leaders” as vendors who are performing well today, have a clear vision of market direction, and are actively building competencies to sustain their leadership position in the market.

“We are appreciative to be acknowledged as a “Leader” within the 2005 Learning Management System Magic Quadrant,” said Doug Mastrangeli EVP of Markets for Intellinex. “This recognition serves as additional confirmation of our strategy that supporting our customers in delivering learning through a fully hosted, integrated learning management platform is resonant with the broader demands of the marketplace.”

To be positioned as a leader in the 2005 Learning Management Systems Magic Quadrant, companies must have a clearly defined vision and strategic plan that allows them to anticipate, direct and initiate market trends. In addition, Leaders must have solid product strategy combined with a solid management vision to make elearning a focused initiative. Analysts indicate that greater emphasis was placed this year to those who demonstrated enterprise deployments, financial viability, and integration with other business applications and elearning products.
