Ford Motor Company, in partnership with General Physics Corporation, Receives Award for Blended Learning Technical Training Course

Elkridge, MD. July 27, 2004. The American Society for Training and Development (ASTD) presented "Excellence in Practice" citations to Ford Motor Company and General Physics Corporation (GP), a subsidiary of GP Strategies Corporation (NYSE: GPX), for the blended learning solution supporting the Consumer Driven 6-Sigma Green Belt program. Accepted by representatives of Ford Motor Company and GP, the citations were presented at the International Conference & Exposition in Washington, DC.

The ASTD awards program recognizes outstanding contributions and achievements in advancing learning and performance in the workplace. GP personnel worked closely with the Ford Motor Customer to convert an existing five-day program into the blended solution, reducing time in training by approximately thirty percent and accelerating program rollout. In addition, the program was also recognized with an Award of Excellence from the International Society for Performance Improvement (ISPI) earlier this year.

The forward-looking statements contained herein reflect GP Strategies' management's current views with respect to future events and financial performance. We use words such as "expects", "intends" and "anticipates" to indicate forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond the control of GP Strategies, including, but not limited to, our inability to generate funds by selling any assets that are included in the proposed spin-off, our holding company structure, failure to continue to attract and retain personnel, loss of business from significant customers, failure to keep pace with technology, changing economic conditions, competition, and those other risks and uncertainties detailed in GP Strategies' periodic reports and registration statements filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

If any one or more of these expectations and assumptions proves incorrect, actual results will likely differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements. Even if all of the foregoing assumptions and expectations prove correct, actual results may still differ materially from those expressed in the forward-looking statements as a result of factors we may not anticipate or that may be beyond our control. While we cannot assess the future impact that any of these differences could have on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows or the market price of shares of our common stock, the differences could be significant. We do not undertake to update any forward-looking statements made by us.
